OCTOBER 2011

FROM THE PASTOR

The last two weeks have been an emotional roller coaster for me as the district pastor. I've seen some of the devastation the flood has caused in the Binghamton and Owego areas. It was heartbreaking to see the mounds of rubbish in front of many homes and businesses, rubbish that had consisted of destroyed furniture, dry-wall, fiber-glass insulation, etc. It seems that Owego got hit the worst. As I drove down the center of that once beautiful town, all I could think of was of the incredible losses incurred by the residents there, some of which can never be recouped.

The other side of my thoughts was about how incredibly proud I feel about the way the churches in the Southern Tier District got into action to help. Right away I started receiving calls from church members far from the flood zone who wondered what they could do to try to ease the suffering of the people in Owego and Binghamton. Supplies, chiefly clothing, were trucked over. Offers of help were extended. (As it stands today, helping hands could be a need for a long time to come.) The people of God rallied with their prayers and support in a way that made me personally grateful to belong to such a body of believers. Last Sunday, September 18, for instance, the Vestal Hills church participated in a major food and cleaning supplies distribution in the parking lot of Lowe's Building Supply store. This happened at the same time that some of the members were also helping to clean out one of a church family's basement that had filled with water.

What I'm trying to say is, while it's a sad thing to see so much devastation happen, and so many people hurting, it's wonderful to see God's people rise to the occasion and give help and support where it is needed. "Inasmuch as ye have done it to the least of these my brethren," our Lord said, "ye have done it also unto Me." Let's always be characterized by our willingness to help ease suffering and to reveal God's love whenever the opportunity arises.
